Branch network

Includes different branch types and sizes according to the type of customer and the sales method. Business units with direct sales of goods (wholesale branches and Plumbing Centres) are marked as Ptáček - heating, gas, water. The studios and showrooms where goods are exhibited come under the Koupelny Ptáček trade name.

Thanks to the ever-expanding network of branches throughout the Czech Republic and Slovakia, we can offer our customers easy purchase availability as close as possible to their place of implementation. All branches are regularly supplied from our logistics centres in Brno - Modřice, Prague - Jinočany, Olomouc and Jihlava, and in Slovakia in Bratislava and Žilina.

The current number of wholesale branches and plumbing centres have exceeded 130 and there are over 70 bathroom studios. Building a branch network, either in rented premises or within its own buildings, is carried out under the responsibility of Ptáček - správa, a.s.

We have extensive storage space, almost 300,000 m². Goods are stored in a covered area of more than 170,000 m² and a 110,000 m² outdoor area.

Wholesale

Our main customers are professional heating and plumbing companies, development companies, construction companies, whereby we strive to provide the benefits of arguably the most extensive and largest product range in building services engineering (BSE). Each registered customer has their own sales representative, who provides the necessary service from price calculations to goods delivery.

Our supplies include a complete range of heating, gas, water, utilities, sanitation. The standard number of stored items at our facilities is around 35,000 items, we annually store 90,000 different products for customers, including the custom range.

Thanks to a strong negotiating position with supplier companies, we are able to provide customers with the best conditions on the market. Optimising stock and goods distribution between branches are handled by the logistics department and is provided by a fleet of 160 trucks and other warehousing and handling equipment.

Optimising the required amount of stock at all our branches allows the availability of goods so that it's ready for immediate delivery. The regional location of the branches, as well as the interconnection through logistics centres, guarantee fast customer service in any region.

Wholesale services

As a professional company, we stand on a professional approach to the customer with a wide range of provided services. From consulting with regard to selecting the range and offer processing, including project consultations for goods delivery in accordance with customer requirements. A personal approach to each customer is provided by a sales department team composed of sales representatives, technicians and specialists amounting to over 200 people.

Without doubt, one of the major advantages we have to offer our customers is the most extensive and largest products range in building services engineering (BSE). Products can be conveniently ordered via the Ptáček e-shop, by e-mail or by phone. Ordered goods can be picked-up immediately at the branch, have them prepared for a certain date or have them delivered free of charge directly to the construction site according to the delivery plan.

Transport is provided by our own fleet. Detailed information regarding our range and services is presented in catalogues with pricelists in printed or electronic form.

We provide technical assistance with project documentation and professional consultation directly at the construction site. The possibility of hiring professional tools and equipment is a great help. We reward our registered long-term partners for subscriptions in the bonus programme.

Plumbing centre

In 2003, we built our first Plumbing Centre - a concept of an establishment used for the sale of small heating and plumbing materials, sanitary ware and bathroom equipment and other basic building services engineering (BSE) ranges, including tools and protective aids for craftsmen. Customers liked this sale, we currently have over 130 Plumbing Centres. Either as separate sales units or as part of a wholesale branch.

Plumbing centres are designed as self-service stores with a clear arrangement of goods, where customers have the opportunity to look at and choose the presented goods themselves. They're intended for sale to both professional customers as well as end consumers. These establishments are built in a unified concept, the composition of shelves, the presentation system and goods storage. Above all, the basic benefit of these centres for customers is fast service.

We offer a wide range of stored stock within these facilities, stock is automatically replenished on a daily basis from distribution centres using a sophisticated daily delivery system involving our fleet. Therefore, craftsmen have all the BSE range they need for their daily work in their own vicinity.

Bathroom studios

The extensive sales network includes specialised bathroom studios, whose task is to provide both wholesale customers and individual builders and investors with comprehensive care when designing a bathroom or choosing bathroom equipment through professional staff. The company currently has more than 70 bathroom studios in the Czech Republic and Slovakia.

The bathroom studios present a wide range of sanitary ware, tiles, taps and accessories, with a large selection of domestic and foreign brands, including current news. Studios consist of bathroom cubicles, where all elements are harmonised into harmonious collections and, for easier orientation, they're divided into various price categories marked economy, basic, standard, top and design.

Cubicle exhibitions evoke the idea of a real bathroom. In the functional zones of the bathroom studios, it's possible to try selected equipment elements such as (hydromassage baths, saunas, bidet toilets, mini-pools)

Another presentation for bathroom equipment selection is in the so-called Shop in Shop, i.e. a studio space with a clearly arranged assortment in various design and technical solutions, in all price ranges.

- Professional counselling and study services.
- Graphic design of the bathroom with 3D outputs and laying plans with dimensioned placement of fixtures, processed in the VISOFIT Premium software.
- Processing the customer's budget change for sanitary equipment regarding tiling and paving resulting from the customer's choice.
- Familiarising the customer with smart home standard equipment and the proposal of a possible extension therefore increasing the comfort of living.
- Storage and transporting materials to the construction site.

Technical support

The technical sales support department consists of professionals who are constantly educated and trained in the solution of modern systems and technologies for heating, cooling, ventilation - recuperation, including comprehensive regulation with the possibility of expanding to smart housing and optimising the technical equipment in building systems. A specialised department helps in the design and correct selection of very complex systems in houses and flats as well as commercial buildings

Our team of experts in the field of the building's technical equipment, air conditioning and smart living will help you find your way around current trends and news on the market. We assess each case individually according to the customer's requirements and needs. Part of our service is also Communication with professional assembly companies is also part of our service, for which we prepare documents, including designs for wiring and diagrams for the chosen solution.

We always try to include the use of alternative energy sources such as solar energy or external energy in the solution design. We also offer the possibility of preparing documents for the submission of applications for subsidies supported by the state environmental fund (Zelená úsporám, Kotlíkové dotace, Dešťovka, etc.).

Part of our work is also the preparing model calculations such as heat losses, the amount of air exchange and related parameters (floor heating solutions, optimal cooling or ventilation system or calculation of storage tank volumes according to the selected technology).

We always bring the most up-to-date offer, including the maximum amount of information, processing the price offer is a matter of course. On request, we can also arrange for individual builders through the network of our contract assembly companies with many years of experience in the field.

Fireplaces and stoves

The Ptáček presents a comprehensive range of fireplaces, fireplace inserts, tiled stoves and solid fuel stoves. At showrooms associated with selected bathroom studios, those interested have the opportunity to become acquainted with products in detail. Studios with a cross-section of a wide range facilitate quick orientation in the menu.

Cooperation with leading manufacturers in the field allows customers to offer products from the most famous global and domestic manufacturers. Some even produce part of their range exclusively for us.

Our employees, as heating experts with many years' experience in consultation, will not only handle the design element, but also the most suitable heat source for your living space and other areas.

Nowadays, fireplaces and stoves are able to provide more than just heating for one room. They're an important part of the interior as an aesthetic and design element, in many cases they're the dominant feature of the whole area. However, they can also fulfil the function of water heating and heating the entire building, they're economical and mainly ecological.

Utilities

Since midway through 2007, our company has included the sale of a range of engineering networks. We provide supplies from water and sewage connections for family houses to the main networks for municipalities, cities, industrial and residential areas. The priority is customer satisfaction based on the supply of quality products, perfect logistics and an exceptionally high-quality team of experts. We are currently one of the top suppliers of this range in the Czech Republic.

A comprehensive range focused on the supply of systems for the use of rainwater, water supply, sewerage, gas, drainage and amelioration systems are stored at selected branches in the Czech Republic and Slovakia.

For roads and commercial constructions, the range offers concrete building elements as well as a concrete programme for the private sector and garden architecture, all from renowned manufacturers with an emphasis on the strictest quality requirements.

A professional team of engineering networks is ready for a comprehensive solution for the main water supply or sewerage lines, family houses and large water management facilities of landscape engineering (infiltration, retention, accumulation). Specialists are able to design sewage pumping stations and pumps for drinking water supply, provide technical advice in the field of water supply and sewerage. Elaborating price offers according to the statements of acreage or in accordance to project documentation is a matter of course.

Sales promotion

Ptáček's business strategy also includes various forms of sales support. They include presentations at exhibitions and fairs, as well as a customer education system, and last but not least, various forms of customer motivation.

Vocational training in the building services engineering (BSE) field as well as knowledge of current trends and the use of modern technologies are a prerequisite for gaining and maintaining our market leader position. In addition to the Ptáček Academy education system, we also publish our own professional leaflets and catalogues.

Our company supports vocational secondary schools and apprenticeship facilities. We are partners of regional and national competitions, which focus on practical skills tests in the BSE field.

Participation in professional exhibitions and fairs in the country and abroad are also part of sales support, both in the form of visits and active presentations. The exhibition exposition of the Ptáček bathrooms dominates the pavilions and visitors have the opportunity to get acquainted with current news and trends in the field, whether it is a design or a technical solution.

The Ptáček Fair itself is a separate project, which has been a regular feature since 2013 and has become the largest BSE fair in the Czech Republic and Slovakia.

Ptáček Academy

Vocational training in the building services engineering (BSE) as well as knowledge of current trends and the use of modern technologies are a prerequisite for gaining new or retaining existing customers. We are fully aware of this and independently and in cooperation with our suppliers we are preparing a system of training and seminars system for you called “Ptáček Academy”..

Only confidence in quality manufactured goods and communication with the manufacturer - designer - trader - plumber / heating engineer can positively contribute to influencing and recommending the best and most suitable goods for end customers.

As part of the Ptáček Academy education system and in cooperation with our suppliers, we perform specialised training at branches and professional seminars in our suppliers training centres connected with excursions to production plants, both for our customers and for our professionals in all sections.

In addition to training focused on the range of our suppliers products, we also focus on education in the field of current general trends in the field. These are both technological trends, such as controlled ventilation and recuperation, as well as design trends, such as modern materials and bathroom element design. Training focused on renewable energy sources and water management also include a section devoted to using subsidy titles (Zelená úsporám, Kotlíkové dotace, Dešťovka, etc.).
